“Cooperation for a Health-y Future”

Under the Auspices:

General Outlook:

Building on the success of its inaugural edition in May 2024, the Arab Hellenic Chamber is pleased to announce the convening of the “2nd Arab-Hellenic Health Conference” on 10–11 June 2026 in Athens, Greece, under the theme: “Cooperation for a Health-y Future”. This conference will bring together industry leaders, stakeholders, and experts to explore the emerging trends and developments and the potential of Arab-Greek cooperation in the pharmaceutical and healthcare sectors.

Over the two days, participants will engage in discussions and deliberations on the strategic importance of the pharmaceutical industries, hospital development and modernization, artificial intelligence and digital innovations in diagnosis and treatment, the growth of medical tourism, the cosmetic industry, and entrepreneurs’ ideas and innovations relevant to these sectors.

The pharmaceutical industry is one of Greece’s dynamic sectors with a significant role in exports, amounting to 5.7% of the country’s total goods exports in 2024, and is responsible for the creation of 11,900 jobs, with a contribution of 3.1% to GDP. Greece’s progress is extending to modern healthcare facilities and treatments, and it is considered a destination for medical tourism. Similarly, Arab countries have strengthened their status in the pharmaceutical industry, they have modernized their healthcare infrastructure, and have developed medical tourism. There is an obvious commitment to adopting technological innovations and supporting the growth and modernization of the healthcare sectors.
